Media Advisory: Fall 2021 Enrollment Open at CSN

August 20, 2021 – There’s still time to apply and enroll at the College of Southern Nevada for the Fall 2021 semester. Classes start August 30.

New students can sign up for classes and current CSN students can enroll now for classes offered online and in-person.

The decision to offer both in-person and remote learning environments was reached after months of surveying students, faculty, staff and closely monitoring shifting public health conditions.

“Consistent monitoring of survey data and enrollment numbers provided us strong indicators of student preferences for learning modalities in the fall semester,” said James McCoy, vice president for academic affairs. “The needs of our students remain top of mind as we continue to navigate the evolving public health landscape.”

CSN offers more than 180 different degrees and certificates in over 70 academic programs, including 26 degrees available entirely online. In addition to traditional two-year degrees, the college also offers 10 bachelor’s degrees.

Those interested and not yet admitted can apply at www.csn.edu/apply through September 5. More than two-thirds of CSN students receive financial aid, including grants, loans and scholarships, and the college encourages all who are eligible to apply for aid. More information can be found at www.csn.edu/financial-aid.
